THE Theraplay[®]
INSTITUTE
Building Better Relationships

What is Theraplay?

Theraplay is a short-term, therapist-guided dyadic psychotherapy that focuses on parent-child relationships and has been accepted by SAMHSA as an evidence-based practice. It:

- Enhances attachment, self-esteem, and trust in others through joyful engagement
- Elicits cooperation and improves behavior issues in children through positive connection rather than focusing on solving negative problems
- Creates an active and empathic connection between child and parents
- Focuses on four essential qualities found in parent-child relationships: structure, engagement, nurture and challenge
- Results in changed view of the self as worthy and loveable, and of relationships as positive

How does Theraplay Differ from Other Kinds of Child Therapy?

- It directly involves the parents or caregivers in change
- It is active, interpersonal, and fun
- Progress can be made quickly
- It focuses on strengthening the parent-child relationship
- It focuses on the “here and now”
- It can be used with young children or children with developmental delays
- The “Theraplay Way” flows easily from clinical setting to home
- Theraplay is appropriate for all ages - infancy through adolescence

Program Content Includes:

- Principles of attachment theory on an intellectual and experiential level
- The Four Dimensions of Theraplay for Child Development
- Experiential exercises to turn a child’s resistance into cooperation and therapeutic progress
- Videos of Theraplay treatment with many different clients in addition to the demonstration family with children AND MORE!

Who Should Attend?
